

Solar Control Film Satin Silver

Our satin silver dual reflective film is as the name suggests in that the side facing out is a powerful solar reflective film which is the equivalent to the industry standard silver 20 solar reflective film which is designed to reduce the heat build up in your home or business and also has a frosted opaque film on the inside face with a very pleasing satin finish so therefore offers the best of both worlds for people who need to reduce the temperature in the their home or business but also require privacy as well.

Satin silver is designed not to be completely opaque and lets in enough light to create a comfortable working and living environment and we have been told several times by customers who have had this film installed by us that it makes the room look bigger and also more atmospheric
